DR. BUCHANAN RESPITED.

THE COVERNOR VIELDS TO THE TEARFUL APPEAL OF HIS WIFE.

He Grants the Condemned Man One Week hiefly to Sive Him Time in Which to Prepare for Benth-Counsel to Make an Start to Secure a Commutation of the Beath Seatence to Imprisonment for Life.

ALBANY, April 23.-Dr. Buchanan's wife and Mrs. Coleman of New York city waited upon tor. Morton at the Executive chamber at 10 colock this morning. Mrs. Buchanan made an earnest plea for the life of her husband, who was to suffer the death penalty at Sing Sing on Wednesday for poisoning his other wife. They were with the Governor in the large reception reem for nearly an hour, and admittance was refreed all visitors, for the first time in years. the Governor at first said he could not inter tere, but Mrs. Buchanan's pleadings were so patheric that he flually granted a week's reapits, principally to give the condemned man to e in which to prepare for death.

When Mrs. Buchanan and her friend left the executive chamber they were excerted by the overnor's private secretary, Col. Ashley W. Cue, who allowed them to escape observation by passing through the private entrance to the Executive chamber direct to the corridor on the second floor of the Capitol. Mrs. Buchanan's eves were red with weeping and she appeared utterly cast down in spirit. Her companion Mrs. Coleman, a tall woman, attired in a black dress, with jet bonnet and fur cape, was more cheerful. She said that she and Mrs. Buchanar had reached the city on the 9:15 o'clock train ast evening, and that they were stopping at Stanwix Hall.
"We came up to the Canitol" said the iast evening, and that they were stopping at Stanwix Hall.

"We came up to the Capitol," said she, "about haif past 9 this morning. Mrs. Buchanan did not purposely wait until the last minute to make her plea. She could not get here any earlier. The Governor received us very kindly and was much affected. He granted us a stay for a week. He wanted me to take the money for the expenses of our trip from New York, but I did not do it, although I understand he is a rich man. We will stay in town until afternoon, when we will take a train for Sing. We will telegraph word of the stay immediately."

The two women then went to the Postal Telegraph office on the third floor of the Capitol and sent off their despatch to Sing Sing.

Gov. Morton's private secretary, Col. Cole, who was present at the interview, said that the women asked the Governor to grant them as long a respite as he could. They did not ask that he commute Dr. Buchanan's sentence. Mrs. Buchanan's sentence. Mrs. Huchanan did very little talking, only moaning that she hoped the Governor would do what he could for them. Mrs. Coleman told the Governor aside that she was no "Tombs Angel." She thought Dr. Buchanan had been buoyed up by false hopes, and that time should be given him to prepare for death. Not expecting it, he had not made final preparations for the awful summons.

The only official announcement from the Gov-

The only official announcement from the Governor says; "Upon further consideration, and upon the personal application of the prisoner's wife, a respite has been granted until May 1, 1803."

upon the personal application of the prisoner's wife, a respite has been granted until May 1, 18:5...

Mrs. Buchanan is a small woman, rather atylishly dressed. She has wavy flaxen hair, and large, appealing blue eyes, which were intiamed from weeping. She wore a black dress, ionnet, and gloves. Dr. Buchanan was married to this woman before he married the woman said to have been murdered. He remarried her in italitax after the murder.

SING SING, April 23.—Gov. Morton's secretary, Col. Cole, called up Warden Sage by telephone this morning and told him that the Governor had respited Buchanan for one week. Varden Sage went to Buchanan for one week. Varden Sage went to Buchanan's cell and said: "Buchanan, I have good news for you. The governor has given you a respite for a week. Your wife's visit to the Executive manison had a good effect, and her plea for your life was cranted by the Governor."

Buchanan suiled and said: "I thought that she would get him to interfere in my behalf, as I am an innocent man. Will you telegraph for lawyer Gibbons, my attorney, to come to see me at once. I intend to fight the case through the courts again, and no doubt now will be had of my getting a new trial. I also want to see my wife to-day."

He then asked whether the respite was to date from Monday, the date within the west on of my getting a new trial. I also want to see my wife to-day."

He then asked whether the respite was to date from Monday, the date within the week on which he was to have been executed, or from to-morrow. The Wardentold him that he could not tell him anything further until the Governus's decision reached him.

Ther's seems to be a difference of opinion as to shether Buchanan can be legally executed next week. Warden Sage was asked by a reporter if Huchanan could be legally executed next week, has much as the time for his execution was fixed for to-morrow, and if the stay given by the Governor legalizes the execution next week. The reporter cited the case of Murderer Hallinger of dersey City, who was respited on the day prior to the time set for his execution and that he had to be resentenced before the Sheriff could execute him.

Warden Sage said that he would consult the the heal to be resentenced before the Sherin co. Id execute him.

Warden Sage said that he would consult the Attorney-General in the matter and abide by the ruling. If the Attorney-General decides that Buchanan will have to be resentenced, the condemned man will have at least six weeks more to live, as the law provides that no person condemned to death shall be executed within four weeks of the time of being sentenced.

Lowyer George W. Gibbons, who has been making efforts during the past month to save buchanan from the electrical chair, went to the listrict Attorney's office yesterday morning, where, after a conversation with District Attorney's office yesterday morning, where, after a conversation with District Attorney relows, he called up the Executive Mansion in Albany, and was informed that the Governor and granted a respite in the case of Dr. Buchanau for one week, or until May 1. Lawyer Gibbons was highly delighted with this news, and seemed confident that he would yet save his client. Mr. Gibbons then said that he would make application to the Supreme Court of the Stete of New York for a writ of habeas corpus, until the evidence in the case can be relieved. If this motion be denied, a second application will be made to the United dates Supreme Court for the same purpose. Mr. reclouds does not anticipate that the Court will faint the motion, but will make the application a stay, in order that Dr. Sheele, a chemist two testified in behalf of the defence during fluctival, will have time to present the matter to the New York County Medical Society. Br. Sheele, who was present with Lawyer Gibbons, and that he intended to make an application to the society mentioned for the appointment of a committee of ten or twelve physicians from insence to review the expert testimony greented in Dr. Buchanan's trial, and from that decide whether the poison found by the chemists after death was due to natural causes a administered with a felonious Intent. On this verdict, providing it be favorable to the condemned man, will be made a second application to Gov. Morton to make the punishment of fr. Buchanan life imprisonment instead of dayli.

or such an alife imprisonment instead of death.

Dr. Sheele's contention is that the poison found in the body was ptomaine and was due to patiral causes. In proof of his theory Dr. blacks buried a rabbit some three months ago, and after it had been ninety days under ground due to pand made a chemical examination. Promaine poison in large quantities was found, as well as traces of morphino, the latter due to the natural atkalles of the earth. Upon this theory the lawyer and chemist are working in convert, and the former will use every effort to dealy the execution of the death sentence to such a time as will permit the committee of doctors from the Medical Society to thoroughly examine into the evidence and arrive at a conclusion.

OFFICE FOR ADMIRAL ERBEN.

Russer that Mayor Strong Will Make Him a Book Commissioner.

It was said by some politicians, who have brans of getting information of the sort, that Dock Commissioner James J. Phelan, the only Tammany Hall member of the Dock Board, will retire a week from to-day and be succeeded by Rear Admiral Henry Erben. The Admiral is a Democrat, but is not affiliated with any faction of the party. That is what the Mayor wants. If he must keep his promises of non-partisanship, he prefers, it is said, to appoint Democrats who are not factionists or permissions" partians. He has been led to adopt this view, it is declared, by reason of his experience in appointing friends of ex-Mayor trace to good places in the municipal (dovern-It first it was said that Admiral Erben objecred to taking the place because his standing and pay as a retired navy officer might be af-fected. That question was decided in favor of a retired officer, though, by the Court of Ap-peals, in the case of Amediact Commissioner James C. Duane, a retired General of Engineers.

CHICAGO, April 23, -- An effort will be made by the Honest Money League, recently organbeel in this State, to capture the Cook county delegates to the State Convention, which is to define the position of the State Democracy on the monetary question. At a meeting of the Executive Committee of the League, held at the Palmer House yesterday, it was the general Fainer House yesterday, it was the general acutiment that a contest with that object should be made at the primaries to select delegates. Test)mony Tending to Connect Burant with the Killing of Miss Williams.

BAN FRANCISCO, April 23.-Miss Emma Sluvin

one of the four girls who are supposed to have seen Durant near the church at 9:15 o'clock on the night of the Williams murder, was called to the stand in the investigation to-day. She had not seen the man's face, and all she knew was that the coat and hat worn by the man were similar to those of Durant shown to her in court. Miss Lucille Turner, the next witness, is the young woman whose cousin, Dr. Vogel, testified at the inquest that Durant had asked her to submit to an examination, suggesting a place in the church for it. The defence made a vigorous fight against the introduction of her testimony, but the Court permitted it. Miss Turner said that after the incident above referred to she treated Durant only with sufficient courtesy to show that nothing had happened between them. She spoke about Durant's proposal to her aunt, Mrs. Vogel, on the day Miss Williams's body was found. She had written on the fly leaves of church books to Durant and had spoken to him about her physical condition, He had given her some medicine, which had helped her, and, emboldened by this, he had made a proposal for examination.

A new witness. J. P. Hoddon, freight claim adjuster of the Southern Pacific Company, testiffed that he saw a man resembling Durant with a girl near Emanuel Church on the night with a girl near Emanuel Church on the night Miss Williams was murdered. He described the couple on the sidewalk and his close observation of the man. His attention was attracted to the couple by the conduct of the man. He knew it was a few minutes after 8, as he had wound his watch just before leaving his house. When he first saw the man he thought he was taking liberties with the girl, and his idea was to go and give him a shaking. As he got nearer he saw that the man had the girl by the arm had was apparently coaxing her to go with him.

he saw that the man had the girl by the arm and was apparently coaxing her to go with him. The witness described the man, but said he could not identify him.

Another female crank made her appearance at the City Hall this morning. She was a tall, good-looking young woman, and when she entered the office of the Chief of Police she said she wanted to see Durant on particular business. She was permitted to enter the jail, and then went down and talked for some time with the prisoner. Afterward she appeared in the upper office and dramatically declared:

"He is not the man. I looked at his head and neck, and I know he is not the murderer."

She wanted to go into court and testify to that effect, but was told that her assistance was not needed.

The inquest on the body of Blanche Lamont needed.

The inquest on the body of Blanche Lamont was to-day postponed again until next Monday because the police are not ready with their wit-

CITY MARSHALS APPOINTED.

Mayor Strong Makes Three and Unmakes

Mayor Strong made three city marsnals ves terday and at the same time unmade one he appointed only two weeks ago. The new marshais are Frederick Stable of 46 East Third street, Morris Einstein of 738 Sixth street, and M. P. B. Voullaire of West 137th street. Stable succeeds Henry Myers and is assigned to the Fourth District Civil Court. Einstein succeeds David Uniman of the Fifth District Court. Voullaire's appointment was in place of James T. Manchester of the Ninth District Court. Stable and Einstein are both members of the Steckler Association and are Garoos. The former served two terms as a marshal, and Einstein has been a marshal's assistant. Voullaire is a has been a marshal's assistant. Youllaire is a Republican. His appointment was vigorously opposed by the regular Republicans of the Twenty-eighth Assembly district, but their opposition was not enough to prevent the Mayor from appointing him. They reckoned without considering the fact that Youllaire was one of Col. Strong's faithful lieutenants in the B. M. R. O. movement of 1888, '89, and '90.

Manchester, whom Youllaire succeeds, is the first man appointed by Mayor Strong to be removed. He was removed because the Mayor investigated his case and found some facts in his record as marshal when Manchester held the place before, which, had he known of them, would have prevented the appointment.

A Hoy on Trial for Murder.

The trial of Charles Konnagieser, a sixteenyear-old boy, on a charge of manslaughter, was segun before Judge Cowing in the General Ses ions yesterday. He is accused of the killing of Charles Jeroloman, 16 years old, on feb. 13 last, on the dock at the foot of Sixth street and East River. The boys were playing on the dock and got into a quarrel. Kannegieser struck feroloman in the neck, just below the ear. Jeroloman died in the amoulance which was taking him home. The prosecution presented its case yesterday, and it will go to the jury to-day.

A Demented Woman Hangs Herself. Mrs. Amelia Tripp, 58 years of age, of 159 East Fourth street, committed suicide yesterday morning by hanging herself. She used he apron strings as a rope and a chair for a scaf-fold.
The woman was demented. Her husband died eighteen years ago, and an invalid daugh-ter last year. She thought she heard the voice of her dead daughter calling to her and had visions of her dead husband. STRAW BAIL FOR THIEVES.

DISCOVERY OF A SUPPOSED CON-SPIRACY TO CHEAT THE LAW. The District Attorney's Office Much Disturbed by What Seems to Be a Well-laid Plan to Sceure the Liberty of a Gong of Pickpockets and Petty Thieves, Assistant District Attorneys Unger, Hennesser, and Battle, who have charge of the bail cases in the District Attorney's office, made an important discovery recently and they are of the belief that there are at least three straw bondsmen who have been swindling the authorities recently. The matter was reported to Col. Fellows, who ordered a searching inquiry, and as a result a warrant was issued by the Recorder yesterday for one of the men. The warrant was granted on information lodged by Assistant District Attorneys Hennessey and Battle, who declaced that Dietrich Tragman, had committed perjury in swearing the last time he offered himself as a hondeman that he was on no other bond. The Assistant District Attorneys believe that professional straw bondsmen were in lengue for the protection of a gang of pickpockets and petty larceny thieves.

Three of the bonds were forfeited by the Recorder yesterday and one by Judge Fitzgerald. In one case, that of Tragman, the Assistant District Attorneys believe that he acted as bonds man under the names of David Tragman, Dietrich Tragman, and John D. Tragman, as the addresses given in each case are in proximity to each other. The men who are supposed to comprise the gang of crooks are: Frederick R. Watson, alias Frederick Lawther; George Williams, alias George Donovan; William C. Hamp-ton, Edward Finnegan, John O'Brien, and David Mulcahey. All of them except Finnegan and Mulcahey, who are in the Tombs prison, have gained their liberty through the alleged stray bondsmen.

Maggie Anderson, who is accused of keeping a disorderly house in West Forty-ninth street bondsmen.

Maggie Anderson, who is accused of keeping a disorderly house in West Forty-ninth street, has also escaped under a $500 straw bond. When her case was called before the Recorder yesterday morning heither she nor her bondsman appeared, and the bond was ordered forfeited. She was bailed on April 5 by Dietrich Tragman, who gave his address on this occasion as 1,443 Myrtle avenue, Brooklyn.

Another bond forfeited at the same time was that of George Williams, who was bailed by lavid Tragman, who gave his address as 315 East Seventy-fourth street in the Yorkville Police Court before Police Justice Deuel on April 16. Williams was accused of stealing a $50 seart pin from Patrick Clark, a buther of 227 East Eighty-second street, in a Third avenue car on April 10. He was indicted for grand larceny. Tragman said the property at 212, 214, and 216 West 105th street and 216 West 105th street and 216 West 106th street is another of the gang who has escaped. His bondsman was John D. Tragman, who gave as his address 1,444 Myrtle avenue, and who qualified as surety for $500. O'Brien was arrested on March 13, on a charge of petity larceny. He was indicted by the Grand Jury, and when his case was called before Judge Fitzgerald vesterday neither he nor Tragman appeared. The bond was declared forfeited.

Another forfeited bond in which the name of Tragman occurred is that of Edward Finnegan, who was arrested on March 27 and held in $2,000 hail for trial. This time it was Dietrich Tragman and Tragman. Finnegan was subsequently rearrested on March 27 and held in $2,000 hail for trial. This time it was Dietrich Tragman occurred is that of Edward Finnegan who was arrested on March 27 and held in $2,000 hail for trial. This time it was Dietrich Tragman and Tragman. Finnegan was subsequently rearrested on hards balled in $1,000 for George Herbert of 147 Madison street, is the man who figures in the other cases. He gave his address in this case as 1,442 Myrtle avenue, in The other professional bondsman who is believed to be impl x-convict. When his case was called for trial yesterday ex-convict.

When his case was called for trial yesterday there was no response, and the Recorder declared that bond forfeited. Assistant District Attorney Unger discovered that Robert O'Brien, who gave his address as 1,809 Anthony avenue, is bondsman for William C. Hampton, indicted for largeny and bailed in $300, whose bond was forfeited on April 9. What attracted his attention particularly to the O'Brien cases was the fact that a man named John F. Lang called at the office recently and offered bail for David Mulcaley, now in the Tombs prison awaiting trial for petty largeny. He offered the property 4, 6, and 8 Eighthstreet, which was refused. He then offered property which he claimed to own at 10, 12, and 14 Avenue D. He produced a deed for the last-named property, which Mr. Unger has in his possession at present. After a search in the Register's office, Mr. Unger is of the opinion that the deed offered is a fraudulent one.

The whole matter will be laid before the Grand Jury and steps taken to break up the gang of straw bondsmen. District Attorney Fellows said yesterday that he had ordered the matter to be fully investigated and the blame fixed on the persons responsible.

Tragman kept a little plumbling shop at 1,444 Myrite avenue, Brooklyn. He is known in the neighborhood as John David Tragman, John Dietrick Tragman, and Jake Tragman. Myrtic avenue, Brooklyn. He is known in the neighborhood as John David Tragman, John Dietrick Tragman, and Jake Tragman. Two weeks ago he moved away with his wife, two sons, and a daughter. He told one of the neighbors that he was going to New York. He was regarded as a poor man, although it is said that he imagined himself a wealthy man when he wasdrinking. A detective was looking for him last night to serve the warrant, but could not find him.

EIGHTH BATTALION DOING WELL. Gen. McAlpin Said Kind Things at the Re-

Major Henry Chauncey, Jr., had reason to be proud of the improvement that the Eighth Battalion has made under his command, as shown by its parade last night. The occasion for the display was a celebration of the thirty-fourth anniversary of the departure of the old Eighth Regiment to the front. The big armory at Ninety-fourth street and view Last Night.

The big armory at Ninety-fourth street and Park avenue was crowded with spectators, the majority of whom were women. Adjt.-Gen. Mc-Alpin, who reviewed the battalion, was accompanied by Col. Rogers and Col. Satteriee of the fovernor's staff. Company F was detailed as an escort to the colors, and then the Eighth Battalion men were put through their paces.

They showed great improvement, and in a little congratualtory speech Gen. McAlpin told them so, and said they were a credit to their country, or words to that effect. In the opinion of the spectators several of the companies could get some points on marchine and wheeling by watching the battalion's band, which made a very brave appearance in its rod coats and received frequent applause.

Marksmen's badges were given to 110 men and officers. A lunch was served to the military guests in the Board of Officers' rooms, and down on the drill floor there was dancing after the review.

Thirteenth Regiment's Reception to, Its

The annual reception of the Thirteenth Regiment to the Veteran Association took place last night at the Sumner avenue armory in Brooklyn, and attracted a big crowd of spectators. The regiment, which was under the command of Lieut.-Col. Watson, was reviewed by the veterans, among whom were included ex-Gov-hulkeley of Connecticut, Gen. John B. Woodward, James Jourdan, Thomas H. McGrath, Philip II. Briggs, A. C. Barnes, C. T. Christiansen, and Horatio C. King. The Rev. Dr. Talmage was in his place as chaplain of the regiment. At the close of the review the veteran association held its annual supper in the officers' mees room.

LET THE MAYOR DOWN EASY. Aldermen's Final Action on His Remarks.

ble Finnneini Message. The ruction which Mayor Strong precipitated three weeks ago by his remarkable message to the Board of Aldermen regarding the city's finances came to a peaceful conclusion yesterday. The report of the Finance Committee sus taining Comptroller Flich and letting the Mayor down casy was unanimously adopted without any previous discussion under the same tacit agreement to let the matter drop that prompted the committee's unanimous report.

After it was all over, however, a political discussion threatened to break out. The Tammany nembers wanted the adopted report printed in full in the City Record, although it had been printed when presented. The Republicans thought that a second printing would look like reflection on the Mayor. Alderman Goodman (Rep.) said the Tammany members ought to be fully satisfied with having the Comptroller sussined without rubbing it in.

"We let the report go through," he said, "without opposition from those who would have liked to support the Mayor if the Mayor had been right."

"I don't see why we should feel so entirely satisfied." said Alderman Noonan (Tam.). think we are letting the Mayor down easy." Alderman Ware (Rep.) said the proposition to print the report again was evidently made with the idea of humiliating the Mayor, and was beneath the dignity of the Board. The matter was then dropped. The Aldermen scored a point on the Commissioner of Public Works, who, the Committee on sioner of Public Works, who, the Committee on Bules reported, had agreed to give each member a copy of the Consolidation act. The committee said the Commissioner's previous refusal was due to a missapprehenion. Mr. Brookfeld was requested to supply the books as soon as possible.

A petition was received from the Metropolitan Street Railway Company asking permission to extend its system in order to carry passengers from the Grand street ferry on the East River to the Cortland street ferry on the North River, and between the business centre and the Cortland street ferry. The proposed extensions for and between the business centre and the Cortlandt street ferry. The proposed extensions for this purpose are: From the intersection of Dey and West streets to Greenwich street, to College place, to Vesey street; and from the intersection of West Broadway and Duane street, to Chambers street, to College place, to Vesey street. The motive power will be cable or electricity. The petition was referred to the Raliroad Committee, which will hold a hearing on May 27.

The Raliroad Committee was instructed to investigate the efficiency of cable car gripmen, and ascertain if possible why they start and stop cars so suddenly as to throw the passengers about; also why frequent delays are caused by the slipping of the cable.

The Mayor sent a message vetoing the ordinance recently adopted permitting sidewalk stands in the vicinity of Washington Market, on the ground that he had been informed by the Cornoration Counsel that the Common Counsel

Corporation Counsel that the Common Council was without power to pass any ordinance authorizing any occupation of public streets which does not come within the definition of a street

The Committee on County Affairs was directed to confer with the trustees of the Astor, Leuox, and Tilden libraries as to the advisability of demolishing the old reservoir at Forty-second street, in order to provide a site for the new street, in order public library.

MR. LANE CHOOSES THESE PLACES, And He Modestly Requests the Comptrol.

Comptroller-Fitch was very much amused vesterday by a letter which he received from Alexander T. Lane, in the dry goods trade at 89 Grand street. In the letter Mr. Lane informed the Comptroller that the writer had received a letter from Mayor Strong, in which the Mayor said that Lane might find a place to his liking in some one of the city departments. and that the Mayor was willing to endorse his application. After receiving this assurance, Mr. Lane cast about for the place he would like, and here is a list in the order of his preference:

4. Collector of City Revenue, salary, $4,000.

If he could not have any of these places Mr.
Lane informed the Comptroller that he was through looking for public office. Mr. Lane does not seem to know that Comptroller Fitch is a Democrat who was elected on a Tammany Hall and not on a non-partisan ticket, and that Mayor Strong has nothing to do with the Finance Department, in which all the places he is looking for are already well filled.

The little St. Lawrence skiff Queen Mab, which is now reposing in Manning's yacht warehouse, South Brooklyn, is attracting considerable attention. She is seventeen feet four inches over all, and is fitted with paddle wheels like a ferrybost. The naddles are operated by an ingeniously arranged set of cogs. At the end of each stroke a chuck falls, thus doing away with lost motion and making the stroke continuous. A lever changes the direction of the wheels without interrupting the stroke. The boat is operated by levers, one scated in front and the other behind the cog box.

The invitation to send a team to compete in the international tournament at the Ranclegh grounds, London, has been declined by the Polo Association. Individual players who may be abroad in June will be allowed to compete, but not as representatives of the Polo Association. Foxhall Keene and W. Rutherford are expected back from England in May. FITZSIMMONS MEANS TO FIGHT. He Will Begin Training Next Week for His Engagement with Corbett.

Martin Julian, Bob Fitzsimmons's backer, is nclined to believe that Corbett never means to fight Fitz if he can help it. Julian said to THE fight Fitz if he can help it. Julian said to The Sun reporter yesterday that the club which in-tended to pull off the proposed encounter was only a myth. He says that Joe Vendig, who is supposed to be the main mogul in the Daval A. C. of Jacksonville, which club has shown a pre-dilection to pull off the affair, is simply binding, and that he has stoutly refused to deposit a sum of money to prove to the public that he means business. of money to prove to the public that he means business.

"I have telegraphed Bob, who is now at Pittsburgh," said Julian, " to close his show next Saturday night and start into training right away. I want to convince the public and Fitzsimmons's detractors that Bob means nothing but what he has said all along, Ile wants to fight, for he is sure he can beat Cerbett. Believe me, Corbett doesn't want any of Bob's game. He would like to crawl out of the mill now if he could, I don't know as yet where Fitz will train. I have in view many places, and will probably select one which will afford the most advantages. If Corbett tries to wriggle out of the match my man will give him a wide berth and claim the championship of the world. I expect to receive an offer from New Orleans this week for the mill. I will accept any reasonable kind of a purse. We are not looking for a million dollars; a normal sum would suit us, because we are on the level and strictly mean business."

Police Stop the Fighting at the "Scots"

The Scottish American A. C. held its final boxing The opening bout was between Jim Holmes of this city and Sieve Bloom of the "Scots." They fought at 145 pounds. Holmes was not in his old-time form. Bloom mixed it up well with him all through the six rounds. Referee Closterman declared the bout dons of this city and Tom Gaffney, formerly of Phila delubia, but now a member of the Scottish-Americans of the leading, but many of his blows were eleverly stopped by Siddons, who had a slight advantage of the infichting. Referee Farly decined the bout a draw. The third and has bout ended alreapily in the early part of the second round. The rival lighters were Eddie Council of the "bests" and have O'Connor of Paterson. The contest was to decide the feather weight champlenship of the State. At the opening of the second round Connect forced the fighting.

O'Connor then began mixing matters, and finally succeeded in catching Connell squarely behind the ear with a swinging right hand blow, and the latter fell headlong to the boards and rolled over. He managed to regular his feet, however, within the specified ten seconds. Meanwhile Police Sergeant Duffy stepped into the ring and stopped all further hostilities.

A meeting was held at the Manhattan Chess Club last night, with J. D. Elwell in the chair. It was decided to form a players' league for the the purpose of arranging annual tournaments and to foster the game generally. A committee was appointed to submit a draft of the constitu-tion and by-laws at the next meeting, to be held on May 4.
